

Assessment of the agricultural potential of the identified state land within the SUP area of the Berg River Dam

Land below the dam wall and at Robertsvlei was identified by Government and SAFCOL as being commercially unviable and unsustainable for forestry. These land parcels were identified as land available for immediate release and conversion from forestry to other land uses, with agriculture being identified as one of the potential land uses.