

Emerging farmer integration project - Establishment of the Deciduous Fruit Development Chamber (DFDC) (OABS)

Integrating emerging farmers into the mainstream economy calls for producing products to be globally competitive in terms of quality, prices and availability. Knowledge networking provides a platform for any producer (emerging or commercial) to assess market demand for goods, its technical specifications and the prevailing prices in the market.