

Market scoping for solar-powered irrigation pumping opportunities in South Africa

The main objective of the study “Market scoping for solar-powered irrigation pumping opportunities in South Africa” was to assess solar power’s current commercial potential and viability as an option for providing power for irrigation pumps to areas which at present lack access to grid electricity or rely on diesel or other fossil fuels, with the view of providing IFC with potential funding or transaction advisory opportunities.